Overall Employee Engagement Score = 58%

The engagement score measures the degree to which an employee's expectations are fulfilled. It considers the importance given by the employee to each engagement factor as well as the employee's perceived level of fulfillment. This report enables employers to enter fruitful discussions that establish mutually beneficial, long-term employment relationships. The graph below identifies the employee's:

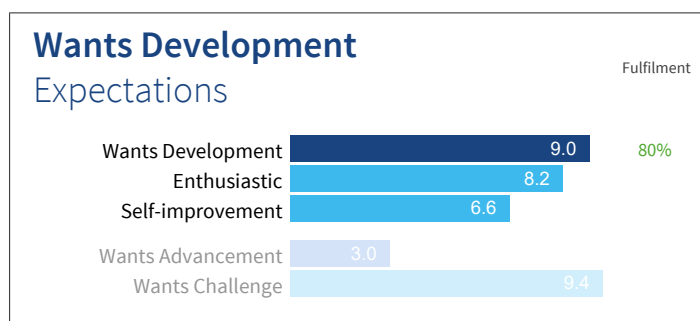

- dark blue bars are Employee Expectations
- the light blue are behaviors needed to fulfill the expectations(s) above
- the length of the bar reflects the strength of the expectation or behavior
- to the right of each important Expectation is the percentage of Fulfillment

Focus on the important expectations (scores of 6 or greater) with fulfillment ratings less than 70%. Clarify the expectation and give specific examples about how it could be fulfilled including behaviors needed.

Development Expectations

This section analyses employee expectations for development opportunities, highlights related organisational behaviour, and provides guidelines for managing career development expectations. This section also shows the person's level of fulfillment for each expectation.

Wants Development: The desire to have work opportunities to learn new skills or increase abilities

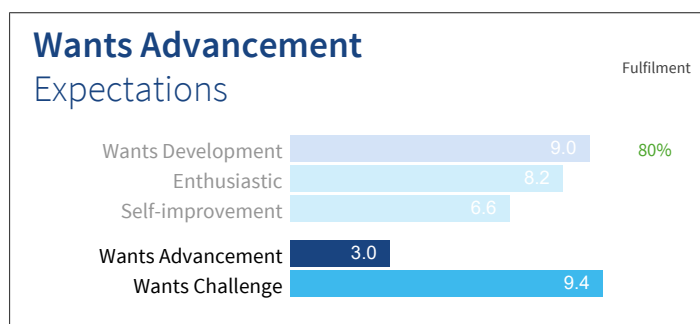

Enthusiastic: The tendency to be eager and excited toward one's own goals

Self-improvement: The tendency to attempt to develop or better oneself

Tendencies for Wants Development

Andrew considers career development to be very important and thus, it is very important to provide development opportunities. Andrew believes this expectation is reasonably likely to be fulfilled with his/her existing employer. There is little or no gap between the expectation and level of expected fulfillment. Therefore, it is probably not necessary to discuss this topic or create a related plan. Andrew has a strong tendency to be clear about goals. Thus, he will probably have career development goals in mind. Discuss those goals to obtain a clear understanding before suggesting or creating a development plan.

Andrew considers self-improvement to be reasonably important and may be reasonably willing to develop new competencies related to career development.

Wants Advancement: The desire to have work opportunities to expand one's career or responsibilities

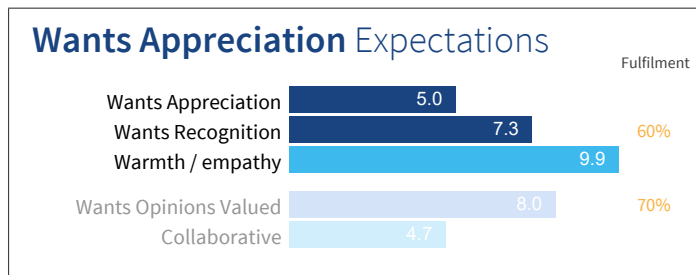

Wants Challenge: The willingness to attempt difficult tasks or goals

Tendencies for Wants Advancement

Andrew considers career advancement to be unimportant and thus, it is unimportant to provide information about advancement opportunities that are available and what is required to achieve them. Andrew is very willing to pursue difficult challenges related to career advancement. If advancement is considered, he will probably embrace any challenges related to advancement.

Appreciation Expectations

This section analyses employee expectations and organisational behaviour related to giving and receiving appreciation and provides guidelines for managing the need for recognition. This section also shows the person's level of fulfillment for each expectation.

Wants Appreciation: The desire to have an employer who expresses appreciation for one's work

Wants Recognition: The desire for positive acknowledgement (from others) related to one's abilities and strengths

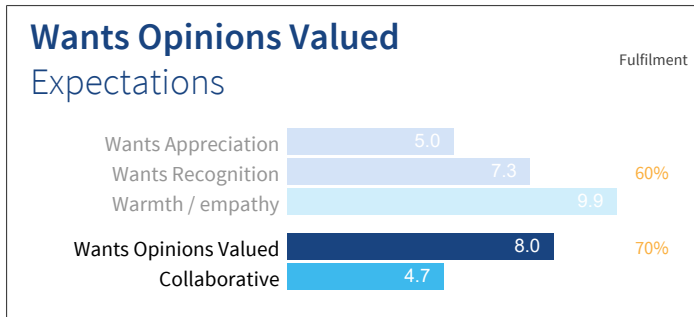

Warmth / empathy: The tendency to express positive feelings and affinity towards others

Tendencies for Wants Appreciation

Andrew considers receiving appreciation to be only moderately important. It is only moderately important for management to communicate sincere appreciation for work contributions.

Andrew considers receiving recognition to be reasonably important. Consequently, it is reasonably important to find ways to provide recognition. This type of recognition should be related to acknowledging his strengths and capabilities. Giving more decision-making authority would be an excellent means of giving recognition. Giving greater autonomy would also be considered as recognition. Andrew believes this expectation is moderately likely to be fulfilled with his/her existing employer. There is little or no gap between the expectation and level of expected fulfillment. Therefore, it is probably not necessary to discuss this topic or create a related plan.

Andrew has an extremely strong tendency to express warmth and empathy. Consequently, it is more likely others will reciprocate with appreciation and recognition.

Wants Opinions Valued: The desire to have an employer who listens and gives importance to one's views

Collaborative: The tendency to collaborate with others when making decisions

Tendencies for Wants Opinions Valued

Andrew considers it to be important for others to consider and value his opinions. Therefore, it is important that management listens to, acknowledges, and encourages his opinions. Andrew believes this expectation is possible to be fulfilled with his/her existing employer. There is little or no gap between the expectation and level of expected fulfillment. Therefore, it is probably not necessary to discuss this topic or create a related plan. Andrew has only a moderate tendency to be collaborative with regards to making decisions. This could hinder others from being more receptive and encouraging to his opinions.

Remuneration Expectations

This section analyses employee expectations related to remuneration. The scores related to Wants High Pay and Wants Quick Pay Increases are compared to Andrew's level of self-motivation. Wants High Pay indicates the importance given to earning high pay levels, while Wants Quick Pay Increases indicates how quickly it is desired. This section also shows the person's level of fulfillment for each expectation.
